Indictment

The accused are charged with conspiring at the end of 2020 to unlawfully transport an individual, M.I., across the state border into Bosnia and Herzegovina. They were aware of an Interpol warrant issued for M.I. at the request of Montenegro's law enforcement agencies due to suspicion of attempted murder while the individual was in Slovenia. Additionally, the accused were cognizant that M.I. possessed forged Bosnian and Herzegovinian personal documents under a false identity. Utilising police resources and checks in the IDDEA system, they confirmed the invalidity of the travel document. Subsequently, Roguljić, using the SKY ECC application for encrypted communication, informed M.I. and coordinated the meeting details in Slovenia. Lubura then abused his official authority in the RS MoI, employing an official vehicle equipped with light signalling, to transport the wanted person illegally and bypassing border controls into Bosnia and Herzegovina.
